

COUNTRY GUIDE – RUSSIA

(January 2016, last updated in January 2022)

Important notes: This guide does not override the Main Board Listing Rules (the “Rules”) and is not a substitute for legal, regulatory, tax, financial or any other advice from qualified professional advisers. If there is any conflict or inconsistency between this guide and the Rules, the Rules prevail. You may consult the Listing Division on a confidential basis for an interpretation of the Rules, or this guide.

The information contained in this guide on foreign laws, regulations and market practices is based on our understanding of them as of the date of issue of this guide. This guide may not be updated to reflect changes in the law after the date of issue.

Subsequent Development (Updated in January 2022)

In November 2021, the Exchange introduced a new listing regime for overseas issuers which covers, among other things, that all issuers are required to comply with the core shareholder protection standards under the revised Appendix 3 of the Main Board and GEM Listing Rules (where applicable) (the “Core Shareholder Protection Standards”). The amended Listing Rules are effective as from 1 January 2022. Information in this country guide may be outdated upon the introduction of such listing regime. Issuers and their advisers are advised to exercise caution when reading the guidance in this country guide.

A new applicant that is incorporated in the jurisdiction of this country guide should refer to the revised Appendix 3 of the Main Board and GEM Listing Rules (where applicable) for the expected Core Shareholder Protection Standards required by the Exchange<sup>1</sup>. Should there be any changes in the laws, regulations and market practices described in this country guide which might or would adversely affect a new applicant’s compliance with the expected Core Shareholder Protection Standards or any applicable Listing Rules, such new applicant should inform the Exchange of any such changes. A new applicant is also encouraged to consult the Exchange at the earliest opportunity if there is any enquiry on the guidance or requirements in this country guide.

Purpose of this Guide

This guide is one of a series that gives guidance on our treatment of listing applications from overseas issuers incorporated in a particular jurisdiction. The aim of this guide is to enhance applicants' understanding of our expectations, practices, procedures and the criteria we consider when applying the Rules for overseas issuers.

This guide should be read in conjunction with Listing Rules, in particular, the Core Shareholder Protection Standards, Chapter 19 of the Main Board Rules (Chapter 24 of the GEM Rules) (for primary listing applicants), Chapter 19C of the Main Board Rules (for secondary listing applicants). All issuers incorporated in Russia can apply for one or more “common waivers”<sup>2</sup> and those seeking secondary listings do not need to apply for waivers of certain Rules which are automatically waived for them<sup>3</sup> (Updated in January 2022).

Summary of our Approach

Russian incorporated issuers must demonstrate how the Russian laws and regulations and their constitutional documents, in combination, provide the Core Shareholder Protection Standards (Updated in January 2022)..

We will consider a listing of depositary receipts (“DRs”) on the Main Board of the Exchange for Russian incorporated issuers.

The statutory securities regulator in Russia, namely the Central Bank of Russia (“CBR”) is a full signatory of the International Organisation of Securities Commission’s Multilateral Memorandum of Understanding Concerning Consultation and Cooperation and the Exchange of Information (“IOSCO MMOU”) and Russia meets our international regulatory co-operation requirements because it already has adequate measures in place with Hong Kong’s Securities and Futures Commission (Updated in January 2022).

We are prepared to consider waivers from strict compliance with our Rules on notifiable and connected transactions. This is if the issuer meets certain conditions for approving transactions where shareholders’ approval is required under our Rules.

We are also prepared to consider other waivers from strict compliance with our Rules. These waivers may be conditional on the issuer providing alternative measures to comply with certain requirements set out in this guide.

We expect the issuer to prominently and fully disclose in its listing document details of the Russian taxation regime and how it is applicable to Hong Kong shareholders, including capital gains tax and withholding tax on dividends.

Applicants incorporated under The Federal Law dd. August 3, 2018 No. 290-FZ “On International Companies” as amended on 25 December 2018 (the “IC Law”), which may issue shares in certificated form, are also expected to meet the conditions set out in this guide and should consult the Listing Department to resolve any inconsistency between this guide and the IC Law. (Added in March 2019)

Appendix      Our Approach to Differences between Our Constitutional Document Requirements and Russian Laws, Rules and Practices

1. Background

- 1.1 Under Russian law, a Russian company seeking a listing on Russian and/or overseas stock exchanges must be incorporated in the form of public joint stock companies (“PJSCs”). Shares of PJSCs may only exist in uncertificated form. In view of this requirement, a Russian company seeking an overseas listing will need to list in the form of DR. Therefore, a Russian issuer can apply for a DR listing on the Main Board of the Exchange. In addition, the CBR, the Russian securities regulator, will only grant approval for a Russian company to list overseas if that Russian company is also listed on a Russian stock exchange. Therefore, a Russian company seeking a listing on the Exchange will need to be listed in Russia.
- 1.2 The CBR restricts the total share capital of a Russian company which can be offered and/or traded outside Russia to no more than 25% of its total issued share capital (whether in the form of shares or depositary receipts), subject to the company meeting certain criteria. Further, the number of shares offered overseas must not be more than 50% of the total number of shares offered in Russia.
- 1.3 As at 15 January 2016, there are no Russian incorporated companies listed on the Exchange.

2. Application of this Country Guide

- 2.1 This guide applies to primary and secondary Main Board listing applicants incorporated in Russia. We do not accept applications for DR listing on GEM.

3. International Regulatory Co-operation Measures

- 3.1 Main Board Rule 8.02A states that each of the statutory securities regulator of an issuer’s jurisdiction of incorporation and the statutory securities regulator of the place of central management and control must be a full signatory to the IOSCO MMOU. This is to enable the Securities and Futures Commission (the “SFC”) to seek regulatory assistance and information from overseas statutory securities regulators to facilitate the SFC’s investigations and enforcement actions where an issuer has its records, business operations, assets and management outside Hong Kong. This requirement is met for issuers incorporated in Russia as the CBR is a full signatory to the IOSCO MMOU (Updated in January 2022).
- 3.2 If an issuer is incorporated in Russia but its place of central management and control<sup>4</sup> is elsewhere, the statutory securities regulator of that jurisdiction must also be a full signatory to the IOSCO MMOU (Updated in January 2022).

4. Core Shareholder Protection Standards

- 4.1 Russian issuers must demonstrate how the domestic laws, rules and regulations to which they are subject and their constitutional documents, in combination, provide the Core Shareholder Protection Standards (Updated in January 2022).

Based on submissions by a potential applicant, we have set out below details of the differences between practice in Russia and the then requirements in the Joint Policy Statement Regarding the Listing of Overseas Companies (the “JPS”) (repealed as of 1 January 2022). Where we have in the past accepted a practice and it is still relevant for assessment under the new listing regime for overseas issuers, we have stated this below. Russia incorporated applicants should amend their constitutional documents to address the shortfall in compliance with the Core Shareholder Protection Standards (Updated in January 2022)

The information contained in this guide on Russian laws, regulations and market practices is based on submissions by a potential applicant. We have neither separately verified this information nor have we updated this information since its receipt. Issuers and their advisers are advised to exercise caution when reading the guidance in this country guide. Should there be any changes in the laws, regulations and market practices described in this country guide which might or would adversely affect a new applicant’s compliance with the expected Core Shareholder Protection Standards or any applicable Listing Rules, such new applicant should inform the Exchange of any such changes. (Added in January 2022)

Auditors’ remuneration

- 4.2 Under the then JPS, the remuneration of auditors must be approved by a majority of an overseas issuer’s members or other body that is independent of the board of directors, for example the supervisory board in systems that have a two tier board structure. Under Russian law, the remuneration of the auditors is required to be determined and approved by the board of directors of the applicant (Updated in January 2022).

Our Approach prior to 1 January 2022

- 4.3 We do not consider the difference between the requirements under the then JPS and Russian law to be material to shareholder protection subject to the applicant making full disclosure of the auditors’ remuneration and the applicant adopting practices (either by amending its constitutional documents or internal regulations) to require the board of directors’ approval of auditors’ remuneration to be based on the recommendation of an independent body, such as an audit committee comprising wholly independent non-executive directors and an advisory vote<sup>5</sup> from shareholders (Updated in January 2022).

Subsequent Development since 1 January 2022

- 4.4 The requirement comparable to the then JPS requirement was codified in paragraph 17 of the revised Appendix 3 of the Listing Rules as a Core Shareholder Protection Standard on 1 January 2022. Russia incorporated applicants must demonstrate how they will comply with this requirement, which may necessitate an amendment to their constitutional documents. (Updated in January 2022).

<sup>5</sup> The directors to seek independent shareholders’ opinion on the auditors’ remuneration in the form of an advisory vote

Proceedings at general meetings

- 4.5 Right to speak and vote at general meetings: The then JPS requires that all members must have the right to speak and vote at a shareholder meeting, except where a member is required, by the Rules, to abstain from voting to approve the transaction or arrangement (Updated in January 2022).
- 4.6 Shareholders' right to speak at a general meeting is not explicitly set out under Russian law, although in practice, major Russian companies provide for such right and relevant procedures in their internal regulations.

Our Approach prior to 1 January 2022

- 4.7 We expect a Russian issuer to demonstrate that the right of the shareholders to speak at general meetings is included in its constitutional documents (Updated in January 2022).

Subsequent Development since 1 January 2022

- 4.8 The requirement comparable to the then JPS requirement was codified in paragraph 14(3) of the revised Appendix 3 of the Listing Rules as a Core Shareholder Protection Standard on 1 January 2022. Russia incorporated applicants must demonstrate how they will comply with this requirement, which may necessitate an amendment to their constitutional documents. (Added in January 2022).
- 4.9 Appoint proxies or corporate representatives to attend general meetings: The then JPS requires that a recognised Hong Kong clearing house must be entitled to appoint proxies or corporate representatives to attend general meetings and creditor meetings. In addition, an overseas issuer must notify the Exchange of any restrictions on a Hong Kong investor's right to attend general meetings to vote and/or to appoint proxies (Updated in January 2022).
- 4.10 Under Russian law, a shareholder can exercise its right to participate in a general meeting by personal attendance, by having a duly authorised representative attend under a proxy attendance, or by submitting a voting ballot, signed either by a shareholder or its duly authorised representative. A shareholder is not permitted to appoint multiple proxies or authorised representatives. As a result, whilst the domestic depository may vote at a general meeting in accordance with the instructions of holders of DRs, the holders of DRs themselves may not be able to attend general meetings to vote and/or to appoint proxies. If holders of DRs wish to attend general meetings to vote and/or to appoint proxies, they would need to withdraw their shares from the depository facility and hold the shares directly.

Our Approach prior to 1 January 2022 (Updated in January 2022)

- 4.11 We do not consider the inability of a shareholder to appoint multiple proxies or authorised representatives to attend general meetings and creditor meetings to be material to shareholder protection. The jurisdictional difference can be addressed taking into account the ability of a DR holder to give instructions to the depository to participate in general meetings and to vote the underlying shares on his behalf; and the ability to convert DRs to shares and hold them as a shareholder to directly exercise the right to speak and vote at general meetings, and that the amount of time, costs and procedures involved in processing the conversion must be reasonable under the deposit agreement acceptable to the Exchange. In addition, the issuer shall make full disclosure of the inability of holders of DRs to attend general meetings of the issuer.

Subsequent Development since 1 January 2022

- 4.12 The requirement comparable to the then JPS requirement was codified in paragraph 19 of the revised Appendix 3 of the Listing Rules as a Core Shareholder Protection Standard on 1 January 2022. Russia incorporated applicants must demonstrate how they will comply with this requirement. (Added in January 2022).

Other Core Shareholder Protection Standards

- 4.13 Compared to the then JPS and the previous Appendix 3<sup>6</sup> to the Listing Rules, two new shareholder protection standards, namely, members' right to appoint proxies and corporate representatives<sup>7</sup> and inspect Hong Kong Branch Register<sup>8</sup> are added to require the applicants to demonstrate conformity. Applicants incorporated in Russia might not meet these two new Core Shareholder Protection Standards and may have to amend their constitutional documents accordingly. Issuers and their advisors should refer to the revised Appendix 3 of the Main Board and GEM Listing Rules for the complete set of Core Shareholder Protection Standards. (Added in January 2022).

5. Practical and Operational Matters

- 5.1 Reference is made to the Guidance for Overseas Issuers (HKEX-GL111-22) which contains guidance on an overseas issuer's ability to comply with Hong Kong's rules and regulations; the eligibility of securities; cross-border clearing and settlement; Hong Kong depositary receipts; taxation; and stock name identifications. Issuers are encouraged to notify the Listing Division if they envisage difficulties in complying with such matters, where applicable (Updated in January 2022).

Conflicts with Hong Kong's rules and regulations

- 5.2 The then JPS states that overseas issuers are strongly encouraged to consult the Exchange where there is a potential conflict between the laws and regulations of its home jurisdiction and the Rules or the Takeovers Code<sup>9</sup>, for example, those that require a management or supervisory body of an issuer to approve matters that under the Rules require shareholders' approval (Updated in January 2022).

<sup>7</sup> Appendix 3, paragraph 18

- 5.3 We set out below our approach to certain potential conflicts between Russian laws and regulations and the Rules and the Takeovers Code.

Directors' Responsibility

- 5.4 The Rules require a listed issuer to ensure that its directors accept full responsibility, collectively and individually, for the listed issuer's compliance with the Rules<sup>10</sup>.
- 5.5 As a general rule, under Russian law, directors are not responsible towards third parties, but towards shareholders and the company only. The board of directors is not empowered to take collective responsibility and the directors should accept the responsibility individually.

Our Approach

- 5.6 Each director should contractually undertake to the issuer and the Exchange to accept full responsibility, collectively and individually, for the issuer's compliance with the Rules.

Subsequent Development since 1 January 2022

- 5.7 Such requirement is now relocated to paragraph 5(b) of Guidance of Overseas Issuers HKEX-GL111-22 (Added in January 2022).

Shareholders' approval of directors' service contracts

- 5.8 The Rules require a listed issuer to obtain the prior approval of its shareholders for certain service contracts entered into with its directors<sup>11</sup>.
- 5.9 Under Russian law, it would not be possible for this matter to be put to the shareholders for approval as the board of directors is required to be re-elected on an annual basis. All directors' service contracts are subject to review and approval by the Remuneration Committee under Russian law.

Our Approach

- 5.10 The annual re-election of the board of directors by shareholders provides sufficient shareholder protection safeguard over the employment of director. We consider the Rule for shareholders' approval of directors' service contracts to be inapplicable. We would expect to be prepared to grant a waiver from strict compliance with the Rule.

Notifiable Transactions

- 5.11 The Rules require, subject to certain exemptions, transactions with any of the applicable percentage ratios reaching 25% or above to be subject to shareholders' approval<sup>12</sup>.

<sup>11</sup> Rule 13.68 requires prior approval of shareholders for directors' service contracts that have a duration exceeding three years or those provide for a notice of termination of more than one year or to pay compensation equivalent to more than one year's emoluments

- 5.12 Under Russian law, shareholders' approval (by three-quarter majority vote at a general shareholders' meeting) is required, subject to certain exceptions, for a transaction with a value of 50% or more of the company's book asset value. Where the transaction has a value of 25% to 50% of the company's book asset value, approval from the company's board of directors (by unanimous vote) is required. However, if the requisite board approval is not obtained, the transaction may be approved by an ordinary resolution (i.e. 50% plus one vote) at a general shareholders' meeting.
- 5.13 Except as described above, Russian law does not permit a company's material transactions to be put to shareholders for their approval and the directors must decide on those matters.

Our Approach

- 5.14 These differences in shareholder protection standards can be addressed by amendments to the issuer's constitutional documents to include requirements that:
- (a) unless shareholders' approval is required under Russian law, the issuer's directors shall seek independent<sup>13</sup> shareholders' opinion in the form of an "advisory vote" for any transaction which would require shareholders' approval under the Rules; and the directors shall not approve such transaction unless a majority of the votes cast by the independent shareholders for the purpose of the advisory vote are in favour of such transaction.

Connected Transactions

- 5.15 The Rules require, subject to certain exemptions<sup>14</sup>, transactions between a connected person and the listed issuer to be conditional on shareholder' approval at a general meeting held by the listed issuer<sup>15</sup>. A connected person includes a director, chief executive or substantial shareholder of the listed issuer or any of its subsidiaries, a person who was a director of the listed issuer or any of its subsidiaries in the last 12 months, a supervisor of a PRC issuer or any of its subsidiaries, an associate of any of the above persons, a connected subsidiary, or a person deemed to be connected by the Exchange<sup>16</sup>.
- 5.16 Under Russian law, shareholders' approval by an ordinary resolution is required, subject to certain exceptions, for a transaction ("Interested Party Transactions") between an "interested person" and the company with a value of 2% or more of the company's book asset value. Interested persons may include a member of the board of directors, management board or the CEO/management company, any shareholder which alone or together with its affiliates holds 20% or more of the company's voting shares, any person who can give mandatory instructions

<sup>13</sup> Independence of a shareholder shall be benchmarked to the standards under the Rules. See Rules 2.15 and 2.16 which require shareholders with material interest to abstain from voting in the general meetings to the company, any other persons indicated in the company's constitutional documents, or an associate<sup>17</sup> of any of the above persons.

<sup>14</sup> Rules 14A.73 to 14A.105

- 5.17 Except as described above, Russian law does not permit a company's transactions with an "interested person" to be put to shareholders for their approval.

Our Approach

- 5.18 These differences in shareholder protection standards can be addressed by amendments to the constitutional documents to specify that interested persons include each connected person as set out under the Rules, and include requirements that:

- (a) unless independent shareholders' approval is required under Russian law, the issuer's directors shall seek independent shareholders' opinion in the form of an "advisory vote" for any transaction which would require independent shareholders' approval under the Rules; and
- (b) the directors shall not approve such transaction unless a majority of the votes cast by the independent shareholders for the purpose of the advisory vote are in favour of such transaction.

DR Programmes

- 5.19 The then JPS states that an overseas issuer must notify the Exchange if the laws and regulations of its home jurisdiction do not recognise a nominee company holding securities on behalf of third parties, such as the HKSCC Nominees that holds listed securities on behalf of Central Clearing and Settlement System ("CCASS") participants. In addition, an overseas issuer must notify the Exchange as to who will be recognised as the legal owners of the securities in the issuer's place of incorporation (Updated in January 2022).

- 5.20 Russian issuer seeking an overseas listing in Hong Kong can only list in the form of DRs on the Main Board. There is uncertainty under Russian law as to who shall be recognised as the legal owners of the securities. Typically, depositary banks may open "depo" accounts with the National Settlement Depository which allow them to be treated as nominee holders of the shares in Russian companies and not as direct shareholders. However, there are some applicable Russian securities markets laws under which depositary banks are still considered as shareholders of Russian companies and only they may practically exercise certain shareholders' rights and perform relevant obligations.

Our Approach

- 5.21 Russian issuers are reminded that the Hong Kong depositary must be a suitably authorised and regulated financial institution acceptable to the Exchange<sup>18</sup> to ensure, amongst other things,

<sup>17</sup> Any of the spouses, parents, children, full or half brothers or sisters, adoptive parents or adopted children and/or any other affiliates of the interested persons that the relevant DRs held under CCASS are eligible securities for deposit, clearance and settlement in CCASS<sup>19</sup>. In assessing suitability, the Exchange will also have regard to the jurisdiction of incorporation of the Hong Kong depository. Similarly, the governing law of the deposit agreement should be that of Hong Kong or, if another jurisdiction is chosen, one that is generally used in accordance with international practice<sup>20</sup>.

- 5.22 The listing document should include full details of (a) the rights and obligations of DR holders including how the rights of DR holders may be enforced against the Russian issuer and/or the Hong Kong depository in Hong Kong and Russia; (b) the associated risks to the Russian issuer and its DR holders; and (c) full details of the clearing and settlement arrangements including how Hong Kong investors (through HKSCC Nominees) will hold the DRs and the roles and responsibilities of any domestic depository, the Hong Kong depository and CCASS, including with reference to any applicable Russian rules and regulations.
- 5.23 The deposit agreement must be in a form acceptable to the Exchange<sup>21</sup>. As such, a Russian issuer should early consult the Exchange on the terms of the deposit agreement.

Subsequent Development since 1 January 2022

Such requirements are now relocated to paragraphs 5(d) and 18(c)(iii) of Guidance for Overseas Issuers (HKEX-GL-111-22) (Added in January 2022).

Share Buy-backs

- 5.24 Under Russian law, shareholders may request the company to buy-back their shares in certain circumstances, including reorganisation of the company, major transactions, amendments to constitutional documents which limit the shareholders' rights or delisting of the company's shares, provided that the requesting shareholder voted against or abstained from voting under such circumstances. The company may not reject such buy-back as it is a statutory requirement ("Russian Mandatory Share Buy-back"). Subject to the confirmation of the SFC<sup>22</sup>, the Russian Mandatory Share Buy-back is an exempt share buy-back for the purposes of the Hong Kong Share Buy-backs Code.
- 5.25 There are differences between the requirements for buy-back for shares under Russian law and the Hong Kong Share Buy-backs Code:
- (a) requirement for the approval of the SFC for off-market buy-back may not be in compliance with Russian law, as it would be regarded as limiting the rights of the shareholders and the company under Russian law;
  - (b) Russian law sets out its own requirements for share buy-back offer which would need to be followed by the company; and

- (c) there are no requirements as to independent shareholders' approval under Russian law.

Our Approach

- 5.26 To resolve the jurisdictional differences on share buy-back requirements under Russia and Hong Kong, where applicable, a Russian incorporated issuer should disclose in its listing document the respective requirements for share buy-back under both jurisdictions and:
- (a) not to carry out voluntary off-market buy-back or share buy-back by general offer unless the Hong Kong share buy-back requirements are followed (i.e. seeking the SFC's approval before obtaining an independent shareholders' approval, in addition to corporate approvals under Russian law); and
  - (b) to seek the SFC's confirmation on exempted transaction with respect to any Russian Mandatory Share Buy-back when there is a case.

6. Constitutional Documents

- 6.1 Russian laws and regulations do not have equivalent provisions to comply with all Listing Rules relating to the relevant shareholder protection. We set out in the Appendix our approach to some of the items required to be included in a Russian issuer's constitutional documents in order for it to meet the Listing Rule requirements (Updated in January 2022).

7. Accounting and Auditing Related Requirements

- 7.1 We normally require the accountants' reports and financial statements of overseas issuers seeking a primary or a secondary listing on the Exchange to conform to the Hong Kong Financial Reporting Standards or the International Financial Reporting Standards<sup>23</sup> or, for applicants seeking a secondary listing, general accepted accounting principles of the United States of America (Updated in January 2022).
- 7.2 (Deleted in January 2022)

8. Taxation

- 8.1 As a general rule, Russian income tax of 15% would be withheld in relation to the dividends payable to overseas shareholders, subject to any applicable double taxation treaties.
- 8.2 Capital gain from sales of securities is taxable at the general corporate income tax rate of 20%, which is subject to a number of exemptions and applicable double taxation treaties.

Our Approach

- 8.3 We expect an Russian issuer to disclose the following prominently in its listing document:

<sup>23</sup> Main Board Rules 4.11 to 4.13, 19.13, 19.25A, 19C.10D, 19C.23 and Note 2.1 to paragraph 2 of Appendix 16 (GEM Rules 7.12, 18.04 and 24.18A)

- (a) details of any Russian taxes, including the applicable rates, investors in its securities will have to pay;
- (b) details of any treaty between Russia and Hong Kong that may affect the taxes payable;
- (c) the effect of holding DRs through CCASS or outside CCASS on any tax payable (where applicable); and
- (d) the procedures for paying capital gain tax and for claiming any tax relief or exemptions.

8.4 We expect appropriate disclosure of taxation in at least the “Summary” and “Risk Factors” sections of the issuer’s listing document and any sections summarising Russian laws and regulations.

Our Approach to Differences between Our Constitutional Document Requirements<sup>(note)</sup> and Russian Laws, Rules and Practices

Note: Some of the Constitutional Document Requirements stated herein were either (i) repealed on 1 January 2022 because they were not considered to be fundamental to shareholder protection or overlapped with the requirements in the Listing Rules; or (ii) codified with modification as Core Shareholder Protection Standards in the Listing Rules. For details, please see the column headed “Subsequent Development since 1 January 2022”. A Russian issuer should amend its constitutional documents to increase the minimum meeting notice period such that the notice period for lodgement of notices referred to in paragraph 4(4) of Appendix 3 of the Rules will not expire before shareholders receive their notice of meeting.
