	□ No
	You may provide reasons for your views.
2.	Do you agree with our proposal to codify the existing General Waiver to modify the calculation of consideration ratio for a PRC incorporated issuer whose domestic shares are listed on a PRC exchange?
	□ Yes
	☑ No
	You may provide reasons for your views.

The issue of different market price of shares of the same company which are listed in different exchange market not only persists in PRC incorporated companies, but also for foreign companies which are dually listed in Hong Kong and somewhere else. Such codification is not fair to those foreign companies which are listed in more than one stock exchange market.

	□ Yes
	☑ No
	You may provide reasons for your views.
	There could be a risk that the company conceals business information that may potentially hinder the investors from making an informed investment decision. As such, for this issue, waiver to be granted by the Stock Exchange on a case-by-case basis could safeguard the interests of potential investors better.
5.	Do you agree with our proposal to codify the R4.10 Waiver as an exception to Main Board Rule 4.10 regarding the disclosure of financial information of the overseas banking companies?
	□ Yes
	☑ No

	There is no clear indication on which particular regulators that the Stock Exchange is in satisfaction that it provides adequate supervision as HKMA. For this issue, waiver to be granted by the Stock Exchange on a case-by-case basis could safeguard the interests of potential investors better.

	□ Yes
	☑ No
	You may provide reasons for your views.

One of the major functions of a company secretary of listed company is to ensure compliance of listing rules and other relevant regulations of listed companies. For individuals who are not in possess of any of the qualifications and relevant experience as indicated in the current Rule 3.28 ("Proposed Company Secretary"), it is difficult to tell if they are familiar with listing rules and relevant regulations. Although the Proposed Company Secretary are assisted by qualified individuals who act as joint company secretaries together with them during the waiver period, according to current market practice, the qualified individuals are usually senior management of professional service providers who are not able to take part in the daily operation of the listed company. They only have limited access on information and policies of the listed company. Such limited access of information may hinder the qualified individuals from making informed decisions for compliance of listing rules and other relevant laws and regulations and that would expose the company to compliance risk.

Besides, for an individual to become qualified individuals as company secretary, he or she needs to undergo professional examinations and continuous professional development each year upon being qualified as well as possess with relevant experience. It is therefore peculiar to deem the Proposed Company Secretary be fully equipped with such knowledge and experience after merely assisted by qualified individuals for a period of atmost three years without any assessment on the same. Appointing the Proposed Company Secretary as the sole company secretary of a listed company after the end of waiver period could increase the compliance risk of the listed company.

As such, in my point of view, the role of company secretary should be performed by qualified individuals and such waiver should not be codified.
