The Year 2014 in Review

In 2014, the HKEx markets continued to show signs of growth in multiple dimensions amid buoyant primary market activities. The total market capitalisation of the securities market (including the Main Board and the Growth Enterprise Market (GEM) of the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong (SEHK or the Exchange)) at the end of 2014 was HK$25,071.8 billion, 4% higher than at year-end 2013. The year's highest single-day turnover in the securities market was HK$148.3 billion on 5 December while the lowest level was HK$39.7 billion on 26 May (compared to the high of HK$128.4 billion and low of HK$38.6 billion in the previous year).

At the end of 2014, there were a total of 1,752 companies listed on the Main Board and GEM. Of these, 876 were Mainland enterprises, constituting 60% by market capitalisation and 71% by annual equity turnover value. In 2014, there were a record high of 122 newly listed companies on the Main Board and GEM. Total equity funds raised also reached a record level of HK$942.7 billion, of which the funds raised through initial public offering (IPO) increased year-on-year by 38% to HK$232.5 billion. The amount of post-IPO funds raised was another new record, which increased significantly by 238% to HK$710.2 billion from the previous year.

The Hang Seng Index (HSI) reached its highest daily closing level in 2014 on 3 September (25,317 points) and closed the year at 23,605 points, up 1% from 2013. The Hang Seng China Enterprises Index (HSCEI or H-shares Index) increased by 11% to 11,984 points over the year. The Hang Seng China-Affiliated Corporations Index (the Red-chips Index) closed at 4,350 points, down 4% from the end of 2013. The S&P/HKEx GEM Index rose by 3% to 477 points over 2014.

Total securities market turnover in 2014 was HK$17,155.7 billion, up 12% year-on-year. The average daily turnover for the overall market in 2014 increased year-on-year by 11% to HK$69.5 billion – HK$68.8 billion for the Main Board (up 11% from 2013) and HK$670 million for GEM (up 107% from 2013).

Market development

Listing and regulation

In 2014, regulators and HKEx undertook major enhancements to the legal and regulatory framework of the Hong Kong securities market and made significant progress in the development of Hong Kong's offshore Renminbi (RMB) market.

In March, the new Companies Ordinance and its 12 pieces of subsidiary legislation, which provide the legal framework for the incorporation and operation of companies in Hong Kong, came into effect. The comprehensive exercise to rewrite the Companies Ordinance was one of the biggest legal revamps in Hong Kong history, and was aimed at enhancing corporate governance, ensuring better regulation, facilitating business and modernising the law. The new Companies Ordinance involves a wide range of legal and technical changes, including the abolition of the par value for shares. In February, the SEHK published amendments to the Listing Rules to set out the method by which the SEHK's annual listing fees for Hong Kong-incorporated issuers would be calculated when the new Companies Ordinance came into effect on 3 March 2014. The amendments were made to align the Listing Rules following the abolition of the concept of nominal (par) value under the new Companies Ordinance.

The Securities and Futures Commission (SFC) has also amended the Codes on Takeovers and Mergers and Share Repurchases to bring them in line with the new Companies Ordinance, including renaming the code to the “Codes on Takeovers and Mergers and Share Buy-backs”.

In March, the SEHK announced a decision to continue the Initial 3-day Check of Application Proof (the initial proof of the listing document) for six months to 30 September 2014 to allow more time for market practitioners to familiarise themselves with the SFC’s new regulations on sponsors. The Initial 3-day Check was one of the transitional arrangements the SEHK put in place to assist market practitioners. Under the arrangement, the SEHK accepts listing applications for detailed vetting only after it completes an Initial 3-day Check of the Application Proof based on a prescribed checklist. Except for the Initial 3-day Check, all other transitional arrangements in place since 1 October 2013 came to an end on 31 March 2014 and the requirement to publish an Application Proof on the HKExnews website commenced on 1 April 2014. In September 2014, the SEHK announced that it had completed a further review of the Initial 3-day Check of Application Proof and decided that the Initial 3-day Check would be discontinued after 30 September 2014. With effect from 1 October 2014, an Application Proof is published on the HKExnews website at the same time the new applicant files a listing application with the SEHK.

In August, the SFC issued supplemental consultation conclusions on the new sponsor regulations to reaffirm that IPO sponsors are subject to existing statutory civil and criminal liability for defective prospectuses.

In June, the Financial Services Development Council (FSDC) published a research report on positioning Hong Kong as an international IPO centre of choice and put forward a number of measures to enhance the IPO platform in Hong Kong. These include introducing distinct market segmentation for better matching between different types of investors and issuers, accommodating innovations in shareholding and management structure, and developing Hong Kong as a hub for issuers in specific industries. The report also supported the legislation for uncertificated securities market regime, which could facilitate the listing of issuers from a number of jurisdictions. A key step in this direction was taken as the Securities and Futures and Companies Legislation (Uncertificated Securities Market Amendment) Bill 2014 was submitted to the Legislative Council for First Reading in the same month. This would facilitate the establishment and implementation of a scripless securities market regime in Hong Kong. In August, the SEHK tabled a policy paper to the Listing Committee setting out short term and long term goals in relation to the SEHK-related recommendations in FSDC’s research report.

Public consultation was also conducted on a number of regulatory issues in the year. In January, the Hong Kong Government, the Hong Kong Monetary Authority (HKMA), the SFC and the Insurance Authority launched the first stage of public consultation on establishing an effective resolution regime for financial institutions, including financial market infrastructures, in Hong Kong. The proposed regime would provide the authorities with powers to resolve non-viable financial institutions without severe systemic disruption whilst protecting taxpayers. In February, the SFC launched a consultation concerning the future regulation of alternative liquidity pools (ALPs, also known as alternative trading systems and dark pools). In September, the SFC released the consultation conclusions on proposed amendments to the professional investor regime. The proposed amendments, including investor protection requirements for intermediaries when serving individual professional investors, would come into effect in March 2016. The SFC has also revised its proposals on client agreement requirements and launched another three-month consultation on the proposals. In December, the SFC launched a one-month consultation on proposed amendments to the Securities and Futures Ordinance (SFO) providing supervisory assistance to overseas regulators, subject to a number of conditions and safeguards. The proposed changes would allow more effective and comprehensive supervision of regulated corporations which operate in multiple jurisdictions. This would also help Hong Kong regulated entities gain greater access to overseas markets.

HKEx consulted the market on a number of corporate governance-related issues during the year. In March, the SEHK published consultation conclusions on review of connected transaction Rules and proposed changes to align the definitions of connected person and associate in the Listing Rules. Respondents were largely supportive of the proposals and the Rule amendments took effect in July. In June, another consultation paper was published to seek comments on proposed amendments to the Corporate Governance Code and Corporate Governance Report relating to internal controls. The SEHK also received overwhelming market support in this consultation. The amendments to the Corporate Governance Code and Corporate Governance Report will apply to accounting periods beginning on or after 1 January 2016.

In August, the SEHK published a concept paper on weighted voting rights to seek the market's views on whether governance structures that give certain persons voting power or other related rights disproportionate to their shareholding should be permissible for companies listed or seeking to list on the SEHK. The concept paper explains the relevance of weighted voting rights to investor protection; describes the current Hong Kong position; and provides a comprehensive comparison with the approaches adopted in other jurisdictions. The deadline for responses was 30 November 2014 and the SEHK is reviewing and analysing responses received.

As for other listing-related matters, the SEHK published a consultation paper in August on review of Listing Rules on disclosure of financial information with reference to the new Companies Ordinance and Hong Kong Financial Reporting Standards and proposed minor/housekeeping Rule amendments. The SEHK published the consultation conclusions in February 2015. The amendments relating to disclosure of financial information will apply to accounting periods ending on or after 31 December 2015 and the amendments unrelated to disclosure of financial information will come into effect on 1 April 2015.

In respect of product development, the SFC proposed a range of code amendments to promote the development of the fund industry during the year. In January, a consultation was launched to seek comments on proposed amendments to the Code on Real Estate Investment Trusts (REIT Code), which would introduce flexibility in the investment scope of REITs in respect of property development and financial instruments. In June, the SFC consulted the market on proposed amendments to the Code on Unit Trusts and Mutual Funds to give public funds greater flexibility in channels for information dissemination on pricing, net asset value (NAV) and dealing suspension while requiring more frequent disclosure of prices and NAVs. The proposals were supported by market participants. The amendments to the REIT Code subsequently came into effect in August. Proposals about the Code on Unit Trusts and Mutual Funds would also be adopted in 2015.

In December, the HKMA introduced two measures to further promote local Hong Kong dollar bond market development: (1) streamlining the tenors of bonds issued under the Exchange Fund Bills and Notes Programme and the Hong Kong Government Bonds (GBs) Programme; and (2) introducing a discount facility for GBs to provide banks with overnight liquidity.

In 2014, the status of Hong Kong as an offshore RMB business centre was further solidified with the launch of Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect pilot programme.

Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect was launched on 17 November to provide mutual stock market access (subject to investment quota) between Shanghai and Hong Kong for investors. It was first announced by Premier Li Keqiang at the Boao Forum for Asia Annual Conference on 10 April, followed immediately by the approval in principle for this initiative by the China Securities Regulatory Commission (CSRC) and Hong Kong SFC. A series of preparatory actions were taken in the following months, including the signing of the four-party agreement among SEHK, Hong Kong Securities Clearing Co Ltd (HKSCC), Shanghai Stock Exchange (SHSE) and China Securities Depository and Clearing Corporation (ChinaClear) in September and a memorandum of understanding (MOU) by the CSRC and Hong Kong SFC in October to strengthen cross-boundary regulatory and enforcement cooperation under Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect.

To help market participants prepare for Northbound Trading through the Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect, seminars and briefings to Exchange Participants (EPs), information vendors (IVs) and investors were conducted. There has also been extensive outreach to brokers and investors in the Mainland to give them more information on Southbound Trading. A dedicated China Connect web corner was also launched on the HKEx website to provide comprehensive information to investors and market participants on Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect.

A new index — the Hang Seng CSI Shanghai-Hong Kong AH Smart Index (SHHKSI) — was launched in November by Hang Seng Indexes Co Ltd and China Securities Index Co Ltd (CSI). This index serves as a new benchmark to reflect the strategy of price arbitrage between A shares and H shares under Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect.

To provide liquidity support for Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect, the HKMA introduced several measures in October and November: (1) designating seven Primary Liquidity Providers (PLPs) for the offshore RMB market in Hong Kong; (2) introducing an intraday RMB liquidity facility for Authorised Institutions (AIs); and (3) lifting the currency conversion limits on RMB for transactions conducted by AIs with Hong Kong residents, including the conversion limit of RMB20,000 per person per day. These measures would also promote the development of Hong Kong's offshore RMB market. Another RMB business-related measure in October was the signing of an MOU by the HKMA and Banque de France (France's central bank) to strengthen their cooperation on RMB business development in Hong Kong and Paris.

On the market side, a new benchmark — the Hang Seng Markit iBoxx Offshore RMB Bond Index family (HSM iBoxx) — was launched in October by Hang Seng Indexes Co Ltd and Markit (a global financial information service provider) to track the performance of offshore RMB sovereign and corporate debt securities.

Trading, clearing and settlement

In 2014, HKEx achieved key milestones in its system enhancements.

HKEx launched the Mainland Market Data Hub (MMDH) in Shanghai in March to strengthen HKEx's Mainland connectivity and enable Mainland investors to access HKEx's market data through reliable, scalable and cost-effective infrastructure. It offers securities market and index datafeed products and is the first significant technical infrastructure footprint of HKEx in the Mainland.

The rollout of Orion Market Data Platform (OMD) for securities market was completed in March. In December, OMD was also launched for the derivatives market (OMD-D). The launch of the OMD-D marks the completion of the OMD initiative, which aims at standardising the market data systems across the securities and derivatives markets and enabling direct distribution of HKEx market data to Mainland IVs through the MMDH.

HKEx also took the initiative to enhance its system connectivity service as well as its trading devices. The Orion Central Gateway (OCG), a new market access gateway for HKEx's cash market, was successfully rolled out in June. The OCG benefits EPs by reducing infrastructure costs, introducing new services (e.g. "drop copy"), and adopting industry messaging standards. In August, HKEx established a framework to support Application Service Providers (ASPs). The new framework allows ASPs to contract directly with HKEx Hosting Services to establish a link to HKEx's trading and market data systems that can be shared by their EP customers. EPs may be able to lower their operating costs and increase their efficiency with a simpler and more efficient approach.

In December, the New Securities Trading Device (NSTD), a vendor-developed front-end trading device, was launched to replace the legacy AMS Terminals and Multi-Workstation System (MWS). The NSTD adopts a more efficient design and is compatible with the OCG. Another initiative in December was the launch of a new Throttle-on-Demand (TOD) Scheme for daily or monthly subscription of throttles for trading on the Hong Kong securities market, effective 2 January 2015, with an aim to provide more flexibility on throttle subscription for EPs' short-term business needs.

Two measures were introduced by the authorities during the year to reduce trading cost. In February, the Financial Secretary proposed in his budget speech to extend the waiver of the stamp duty for the trading of all exchange traded funds (ETFs). In November, the reduction in the SFC's transaction levies came into effect. The levies were reduced by at least 10% for securities transactions (from 0.0030% to 0.0027%) and derivatives transactions (from HK$0.60 to HK$0.54 or from HK$0.12 to HK$0.10 for the respective applicable contracts). To relieve the regulatory cost burden on the securities and futures industry, the SFC announced in March 2014 that it would waive the annual licensing fee for another two years.

In September, two changes to the Hang Seng Family of Indexes took effect: (1) the cap on the weighting of the freefloat-adjusted market capitalisation of HSI constituents was lowered from 15% to 10%; and (2) REITs became eligible for inclusion in the Hang Seng Family of Indexes, including the HSI.

DERIVATIVES MARKET

Market and product development

In 2014, HKEx made a number of enhancements to its derivatives systems and services, and launched new commodity contracts.

In January, HKEx began offering after-hours trading of Mini-HSI Futures and Mini H-shares Index Futures and extended block trade facility from the day session to the after-hours futures trading (AHFT) session. USD/CNH Futures, or RMB currency futures, were also included in the AHFT session in April. In November, the close of AHFT of stock index futures and RMB currency futures was extended from 11:00 pm to 11:45 pm, allowing an overlap with the trading hours in the US for at least one hour and 15 minutes on each trading day. The three London metal mini futures launched in December are included in the AHFT session but of different trading hours (see below). In 2014, AHFT accounted for 6% of the total volume of these new mini metal futures.

Apart from inclusion in AHFT, HKEx enhanced the product features of RMB currency futures in April, including adding one additional calendar quarter month and adding four new calendar spreads. In 2014, HKEx also announced the following measures to further improve the liquidity of RMB currency futures: (1) appointment of two new market makers; and (2) introduction of an Active Trader Programme and a Spread Enhancement Programme, effective on 2 January 2015, respectively for traders and market makers of RMB currency futures.

To promote investor awareness of RMB currency futures in Asia, especially in Mainland China, Hong Kong and Singapore, HKEx conducted a cross promotion program in the fourth quarter of 2014, highlighting RMB currency futures as a source of RMB funding and currency risk management tool in the context of Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect.

To further broaden the stock options offering, 10 new option classes — China Cinda Asset Management Co Ltd, China Mengniu Dairy Co Ltd, China Resources Land Ltd, Dongfeng Motor Group Co Ltd, GCL-Poly Energy Holdings Ltd, Haitong Securities Co Ltd, Hengan International Group Ltd, Kingsoft Corporation Ltd, Kunlun Energy Co Ltd and Want Want China Holdings Ltd — were introduced for trading in 2014.

At the end of 2014, there were 80 stock option classes available for trading and 40 of them can be traded by Taiwanese investors. Moreover, 7 option classes were added to the Primary Market Maker programme in 2014, bringing the total number of option classes under the programme to 17. Since January, a market maker protection function has been in place to enable market makers to provide more quotes and narrower spreads with lower simultaneous execution risk on selected stock option classes.

In December, London Aluminium Mini Futures, London Zinc Mini Futures and London Copper Mini Futures commenced trading on the Hong Kong Futures Exchange (HKFE). These new commodity contracts are cash-settled on a monthly basis and are traded in RMB from 9:00 am to 4:15 pm and 5:00 pm to 1:00 am (Hong Kong time) the next morning on weekdays (excluding the public holidays on HKEx's trading calendar).

In respect of the over-the-counter (OTC) derivatives market, OTC Clearing Hong Kong Ltd (OTC Clear, the OTC derivatives clearing house of HKEx) obtained no-action relief from the US Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC) in May that allows it to offer clearing services to eligible US persons for their proprietary transactions on an interim basis until December 2015. OTC Clear intends to apply to the CFTC for exempt derivative clearing organisation status in 2015. In the fourth quarter of 2014, OTC Clear received a Notification of Completeness from the European Securities and Markets Authority (ESMA) for its application as a third-country central counterparty (CCP). Meanwhile, the European Commission declared Hong Kong's CCP regulatory regime as being equivalent to those in the European Union. The ESMA has also signed an MOU with the SFC on cooperation arrangements for HK CCPs.

In November, the HKMA and SFC published consultation conclusions on the mandatory reporting and related record keeping obligations under the new OTC derivatives regime. The obligations would come into effect in the first quarter of 2015 and the regulators would also conduct a public consultation on the detailed rules for mandatory clearing obligations at the same time.

COMMODITIES MARKET

In September 2014, LME Clear was launched on time and on budget as a robust and resilient clearing house, fully compliant with the European Market Infrastructure Regulation (EMIR). It is now clearing more than 100,000 matched contracts a day. The creation of LME Clear gives the LME increased flexibility over product development and business expansion, along with direct control over technical infrastructure and costs. Looking ahead, LME Clear will explore potential services with guidance from its members, including accepting RMB and warrants as collateral, and services for the OTC market.

Throughout 2014 the LME continued to implement a comprehensive package of reform measures designed to enhance its physical network. These include creating specific powers for the LME to address behaviour that creates or maintains warehouse queues and a review of the LME's information barrier policy. The LME also began publishing monthly Warehouse Stock Reports in May and Commitments of Traders reports in August. In November, the LME opened two market-wide consultations on enhancements to its warehousing policy and the Warehouse Agreement.

At the heart of the LME's reforms is the Linked Load-In/Load-Out rule (LILO). Following the LME's success in the English Court of Appeal against aluminium producer Rusal's legal challenge of this rule, the LME announced in October that LILO would come into effect in February 2015.

The LME won the right to administer the LBMA Platinum and Palladium Prices in October, and its custom-built electronic solution, LMEbullion, has provided a fully automated price-discovery process since December. LMEbullion has been well received by the market and is attracting new participants to the process.

In June, the LME announced its intention to maintain and further invest in the Ring, its open-outcry trading floor, following a six-month internal review and extensive discussions with market participants. The LME is committed to enhancing the Ring and increasing its efficiency alongside the LME's other trading venues.

A number of technological developments were announced in 2014. In May, the LME's previously outsourced technology team of more than 100 IT employees was brought in-house — an indication of the function's increasing importance to the LME and the integral part it will play in the delivery of strategic initiatives.

In February, LME Clear launched its new trade-reporting service, LMEwire, in time to meet the reporting deadline set out by European regulation. The LME also made it possible for clients of members to connect directly to the LME's electronic trading platform, LMEselect, for market data. In March, the LME launched LMEstage, a real-time, real-data synthetic test environment that will help ensure market integrity by allowing users to test their trading strategies. The LME is also moving its clients onto a new dedicated network called LMEnet, which will provide market participants with a fast, reliable and secure connection to its electronic systems, including LME Clear.

The past year has seen the LME make significant steps towards accessing the Asian market.

In January, the LME approved GF Financial Markets (UK) Limited for category 1, Ring dealing membership, making it the LME's first Chinese-owned Ring dealing member. Chinese Vice Premier Ma Kai visited the LME during his trip to the UK for the sixth UK-China Economic and Financial Dialogue in September.

HKEx, the LME and LME Clear signed an MOU with China Construction Bank Corporation in September for strategic cooperation in the development of new products, joint publicity and marketing, and other areas. China Merchants Group Ltd and China Merchants Securities Co Ltd (CMS) also signed an MOU with the HKEx Group companies in October, and in November CMS was approved as a category 2 member of the LME.

The LME registered another record trading year in 2014, with 177 million lots transacted, up 4% from 2013. This is equivalent to US$14.9 trillion and 4.0 billion tonnes of material. Average daily volume for 2014 was 700,204 lots, up 4% from 2013. New trading records were also registered in 2014 for aluminium (up 3% from 2013 to 68.8 million lots), zinc (up 2% to 31.8 million lots) and nickel (up 39% to 19.4 million lots).

The market share of LME's trading on a notional tonnage basis was 82% of global exchange-traded base metal futures.
