Dear Sirs,

IIS Automatic Line Reconnection Drill on 2 December 2017

Please be informed that an IIS Drill for automatic detection of line failure and reconnection (“the Drill”) for direct connection IIS Clients is scheduled for 2 December 2017 (Saturday).

All direct connection IIS Clients are required to participate in the Drill to prove that their systems can satisfy the technical requirement that there is built-in capability of detecting line failure automatically and reconnecting to IIS system within 5 minutes once the connection resumes. Participating IIS Clients are also recommended to perform full recovery after the reconnection in order to recover all lost IIS news.

Please complete and submit the online Registration Form via this link on or before 27 November 2017 (Monday). Test details and the rundown of the Drill will be provided to participating IIS Clients separately in due course.
